

Working with Young People

From ITC's very beginning, we have worked on various eDemocracy projects with young people. Most of these projects have a strong focus on

- involving young people in the design and evaluation of tools and content
- and integrating the online tools with offline processes.

HUWY: Hub websites for Youth Participation

<http://www.huwy.eu/uk/>

2009 -2011 Sponsored by the European Commission

The HuWY project aims to support young people's eParticipation in policies about the Internet and its governance, through a distributed discussion.

Highland Youth Voice

2000 to 2008

ITC worked with the Highland Youth Parliament from its inception, investigating how online tools could support its work and involve more young people in Highland. The tools developed included e-voting systems to elect HYV representatives, Content management systems for news, diaries and events, forums for consultation and blogs to support local youth forums.

<http://itc.napier.ac.uk/ITC/ProjectInfo.asp?ID=9>

Continuing the Dialogue on Radioactive Waste Management

<http://itc.napier.ac.uk/ITC/ProjectInfo.asp?ID=4>

February 2004 to July 2004

Funded by the Scottish Executive Environment and Rural Affairs

Department to research appropriate tools and techniques to engage young people in their continuing dialogue on radioactive waste management.

Ur'say for Young Scot

2003 -2004

ITC worked with Young Scot in the early days of its online forum, then called Ur'say. ITC developed content and moderated the discussions, and worked with Young Scot to update and develop Ur'Say at a local level.

<http://itc.napier.ac.uk/ITC/ProjectInfo.asp?ID=11>

e-Consultation: Youth Summit 2000

This early electronic consultation aimed to capture issues important to young people living in Scotland and to investigate their reactions to this new engagement method.

<http://itc.napier.ac.uk/ITC/projectSummaries.asp#Project17>